INDUSTRIAL CENSUS IS TO BE PROPOSED IN SENATE MEASURE

Industrial Survey of State for Benefit of Returning Fighters.

WOMEN FILL JOBS

By Associated Press Leased Wire Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—An industrial census for Illinois to be made under the State Department of Labor, to aid in the rehabilitation of soldiers and sailors in industry is proposed in a bill which is to be introduced in the Senate next Tuesday by Senator Dailey, of Peoria. The census is expected to disclose to what extent women have taken the place of men in labor. The Labor Department has the power to attempt the adjustment and replacement problems. "This is no attempt to replace women who are bread winners," said Senator Dailey, "but I am informed that women are filling men's places at greatly reduced wages. In many cases they are women who are not compelled by necessity to do so." Under the census bill employers would be required to give the number of their employees who have entered the military service during the two years and the number of other employees, together with other facts.

MARSHALL SAVES THE ADMINISTRATION IN TIE VOTE IN SENATE

VICE PRES. DEFEATS IT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Only the vote of Vice President Marshall, exercised for the first time this session, saved the administration forces in the senate today from a serious defeat on the Russian policy. A tie vote—33 to 33—resulted when Senator Fletcher, of Florida, one of the Democratic leaders, moved to table the resolution of Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, calling for the withdrawal of the American troops from Russia. Vice President Marshall, then presiding, promptly cast his vote with the administration forces and the resolution was tabled. Coming Up Again. Senator Johnson announced, however, that he would bring the measure up again in a day or two in a slightly different form, and would keep it before the senate until it was voted on again. In the voting today four Democrats—Chamberlain, Hardwick, Vandaman, and Gore—bolted and cast their votes with the Republicans, while three Republicans sided with the administration forces—Nelson, Sterling, and McCumber. The resolution was called up by Senator Johnson during the consideration of the rivers and harbors bill. Senator Sherman of Illinois gained recognition and denounced the Russian policy, although he bitterly condemned the bolsheviks. He praised the recent action of the federal government in deporting alien agitators. Must Destroy Germ. "That was one of the most righteous and effective actions this government ever took," Senator Sherman said. "I hope it will be kept up until the germ of bolshevism is completely destroyed." Senator Sherman declared that allied intervention in Russia could not be justified. The only justification, he declared, was military necessity and he recalled how public opinion of the world, expressed its disgust when the German imperial government undertook to justify its invasion of Belgium on the ground of military necessity. After the debate had gone on for an hour or more Senator Fletcher, in charge of the rivers and harbors bill, moved to table the Johnson resolution.

PROMINENT IN DIXON

Joseph F. Palmer, former mayor of the city of Dixon and for years one of its most prominent lawyers and citizens, passed away at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 606 Hennepin avenue, after a lingering illness. Mr. Palmer's condition had been the source of great anxiety on the part of his many friends for several weeks, and because of his advanced age it was feared he could not recover. Funeral arrangements will be published later. Mr. Palmer was born at Huntingdon, Canada, on Feb. 20, 1835. After reaching his majority he went to Nashua, N. H., where he worked in the mills and later accepting a position as clerk in a grocery store and also in a bakery. Shortly after his arrival here a call was sent out for more volunteers to help in preserving the Union and Mr. Palmer enlisted and was assigned to the commissary department of the division of the army west of the Mississippi. He returned to Dixon in 1864 and accepted a job on a farm south of the city and when work was slack he went out selling lightning rods. He saved his money and when he had sufficient capital he launched out in the grain buying business. He built sheds and put in a scale on the corner of Highland avenue and Ninth street, at about the point where the residence of Fred G. Dimick now stands. He bought corn around the neighboring country and at times had as high as ten thousand bushels on hand and when the market was right would sell. During his spare time he read law and burned much midnight oil pouring over his books. His labor was rewarded in 1882 when he was admitted to the bar, and he then opened a law office and later turned his attention to the real estate and

UP FOR THIS SEASON

Signatures of All the Stars, Except Joe Jackson, Appended to Contracts.

GLEASON AT THE HEAD

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 15.—Members of the Chicago Americans are rapidly signing into line. All of the star players, with the exception of Joe Jackson, who deserted the club last season for a shipyard engagement, have placed signatures to 1919 contracts.

There is a persistent rumor that a trade involving Jackson is under consideration, although President Comiskey, who denounced the hard hitting outfielder for quitting the club, is silent on the subject. Jackson, according to reports, may be traded to the Detroit club in an exchange for either Bobby Veach, Harry Heilmann or Owen Bush.

President Comiskey, however, probably will do nothing in regard to Jackson's case until the arrival of Manager "Kid" Gleason in Chicago, to assume active control of the club. Before reporting here, Gleason may visit "Shoeless Joe" at his South Carolina home to learn how he feels about returning to the game.

Ray Schalk, the club's star catcher, and outfielders Felsch and Liebold are among the latest to sign up for the season. Others include Pitchers "Red" Faber, Eddie Cicotte and Joe Benz, in addition to a number of promising recruits. Eddie Collins, premier second baseman of the league, is expected back to serve the last year of his five-year contract.

President Comiskey expects one of the greatest seasons in history of baseball.

"The public is looking forward to the resumption of the game, I believe, just as much as we baseball men are," Comiskey said. "I think Gleason will be a wonderful manager. We will start with a strong team and make a strong bid right from the opening game."

The White Sox will start for the spring training camp at Mineral Wells, Tex., about March 21. The players probably will spend between two and three weeks in camp.

President Comiskey is earnestly considering the proposed trip to South America next fall with the New York Nationals, but definite plans will not be made until the season is well under way.

RAT BOUNTY IS ASKED IN A BILL
BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—Representative Rice's bill proposing a bounty on rat pelts is causing lively discussion in legislative circles. The measure is before the judiciary committee.

Mr. Rice told associates who were inclined to make light of his bill that it was suggested by the federal government. Some veterinarians are of the opinion, he stated, that the hoof and mouth disease in Illinois was caused by rats carrying germs over corn cribs and mangers.

Representative Lucius, of Chicago, is strongly against the bill. "If we put a bounty on the killing of rats," he said, "every kid in Chicago will have an air rifle and will be scouring the alleys. I have a boy and I don't want him subjected to the dangers of air rifles."

Representative Church, of Chicago, said, "If we pay rat bounties, some of our thrifty citizens are likely to start rat farms for the revenue."

MONROE DOCTRINE NIL?

Will America Want to Send Armies to Police the Eastern World?

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 14.—Speaking before the national convention of State Manufacturers' association here tonight, Senator Eliot McMillin of Illinois challenged the right of President Wilson and the American peace delegation to sign a treaty which in any way amends or abrogates the Monroe doctrine. If such a treaty is signed, Mr. McMillin declared, the United States senate will refuse to ratify it.

Mr. McMillin said, in part: "For a time deliberation, discussion, and criticism were almost still in America. Now we begin to feel our old selves again, to test by debate and to measure by our own judgment the new and strange proposals which may affect the future of the American people. We are again on the high road to representative government."

Not Subject to Negotiation.

"The part which we played in the European war does not spell the end of the Monroe doctrine. But if we are not jealous of our liberties that end may be spelled by the part which we play in the European peace conference. If America assumes responsibility for the government of subject peoples in Africa and Asia, upon what ground can she exclude European and Asiatic powers from intervention in the affairs of this hemisphere? There is no person in the service of the American people who has any legal or moral authority to negotiate in their behalf an instrument in conflict with the Monroe doctrine."

"The American mission in Paris is unique not only by reason of Mr. Wilson presiding over its deliberations. No one will deny his very great capacities, but let us frankly avow the utter public inconsequence of his colleagues. They represent no one but their chief and they can register nothing but his judgment and his will."

Not the American View.

"I do not impute any tawdry ambition to the president. I do not believe that he is guided by any personal ambition to be the first chairman of the league of nations. But in the exercise of the vast powers conferred upon him for the prosecution of the war, cloistered in the White House during those trying days, he lost something of his unequalled aptitude for sensing the current of popular opinion. He has not realized, as they in Europe perhaps have not realized, that the congress has resumed its representative character. The president has not realized the change even though the people have, as was shown by the November election."

"Were our delegation in Paris clearly representative of American opinion, were it constituted of representative public men, it could speak with an authority which it lacks. No one now can tell whether the senate will find its duty in the affirmation amendment, or rejection of the treaty."

A Good Barn
Increases Farm Profits

Too many farmers look upon barns as an expense rather than a source of profit, with the result that their stock in winter require most of their feed to fight the cold—or lacking the protection of a cool shelter in the heat of summer, fall victims to disease and dysentery.

A well built, well ventilated and insulated barn will make more profits out of less feed. And besides that it adds to the market value of your farm.

Prosperous farmers and good farms are often judged by their barns. The most successful farmers have good barns because they find that they pay big returns on their investment.

The best barn is a wood barn and to give best service it should be finished on the outside with

BAB IS ANXIOUS BECAUSE NEIL IS DRINKING.

CHAPTER XVIII.

I did not relish the idea of entertaining business people in my home, but as in all else, if Neil thought it necessary that was enough for me. But I confess I was astonished one night when he remarked quite casually:

"I have asked a couple of western oil men up to dinner tomorrow night. Have things bang-up. I met Blanche Orton on my way up-town. She said she'd come over and help you entertain them."

"Is Mr. Orton coming?"
I asked the question as carelessly as I could. I had no intention to let Neil know that a feeling of jealousy against Blanche Orton had been aroused; or that I objected to having her invited. But I was a little surprised at his reply:

"No—he scarcely ever goes out, you know. And Blanche said he was not as well as usual. It must be jolly annoying to be married to a man who is always ailing."

So Blanche Orton was coming alone. Surely Neil must have consulted me before inviting her. Once I had heard a man call her: "A man eater"; of course he had said it jokingly, but now the epithet recurred to me.

"I wish you had asked first—before you invited her."

"Too late now. What's the matter with Blanche? Jealous of her and want to entertain both men over herself? You women are beyond me. She is always gay and dresses stunningly. One would think you would be delighted that I was thoughtful enough to ask her."

"Im sorry you asked her, all the same. Why didn't you invite Lorraine Morton instead? She's single."

"Lorraine's all right. Have her too, if you like. But when it comes to entertaining people who count in a business way, there is no one like Blanche. She's a great little pusher for a man."

"But Neil, you wouldn't ask another woman than your wife to help you in a business affair?" I asked, astonished and puzzled at this phase of affairs. "I'll ask Lorraine, but I have a hazy impression that she said something about having a date for tomorrow night."

As I feared, Lorraine had an engagement. But I had learned to accept the unexpected where Neil was concerned, so I made my arrangements.

O. E. S. PARLOR CLUB.

Mrs. C. M. Huguet will entertain the members of the O. E. S. Parlor club on Monday afternoon, its regular meeting day, at Masonic hall. A short patriotic program will be furnished by various members in honor of the birthdays of the great men of February. It is hoped that all the members will be able to attend.

GAVE STAG DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wilhelm will entertain this evening with a stag dinner in honor of their brother, Lt. John Holzhauser, recently returned from service in the Panama Canal Zone. The guests numbered among them old friends of Lt. Holzhauser, who is a former Dixon boy.

VALENTINE LUNCHEON.

Miss Dorothy Jane Noble entertained today with a Valentine luncheon the members of her club, the Misses Ruth Rice, Betty Forrest, Leonora Frances Clark, Katherine Durkes, and Margaret Dimick. It was one of the prettiest and daintiest of luncheons, with everything in pink and white. Pink tulips graced the center of the table, adding a touch of spring, almost blotted out of doors by the snowfall. Valentines were used as place cards, pink boxes tied with tulle contained the candies, and the favors were the dandiest bunches of roses and lilies of the valley, tied with pink ribbons.

SUPPER PARTY.

Mrs. Douglas Harvey and Mrs. John Ralston entertained last evening with a supper party, honoring the birthdays of their mother, Mrs. H. G. Reynolds, and Mrs. Charles Kehr. The presence of other guests than herself was arranged as a surprise to Mrs. Kehr. A buffet supper was served, the guests later enjoying several games of bridge. Interesting scenes from Europe sent by Mr. Ralston were inspected. Those present included, besides the guests of honor, Mrs. Clevidence, Miss Noble, Mrs. Thos. Richards, Mrs. L. R. Evans, Mrs. T. Jason Miller, Mrs. George Steel, Mrs. Herbert Martin, Mrs. Harry Warner, Miss Helen Brown, Mrs. E. P. Kahler, and Mrs. W. C. Durkes.

NEW MANSE OPENED.

From the Port Huron Times-Herald of February 11th, the following article, concerning Dr. Crissman, for-ments for the dinner for five.

Neil came home early. I was in the dining room looking after the decoration for the table when he came in. He called Touko, the butler, and ordered what he wanted to drink cooled. I could not help a gesture of discouragement. That was another thing which had come with Neil's financial success—the constant need of stimulant.

The dinner was a jolly affair for Blanche, who looked absolutely charming, though in almost maddeningly immodest décolleté. At first I was embarrassed, accustomed as I was by that time to the extreme in dress. But I knew I also looked well, and putting all uncomfortable thoughts away, I exerted myself to entertain my husband's guests. I would not allow Mrs. Orton to monopolize them; or to put me in the background.

Neil had cocktails served, and Blanche Orton drank hers and then begged for another one. She drank a good deal of wine too, as did Neil. Blanche fairly scintillated, but most of her conversation was directed at Neil, her repartee flung at him, while I was left to entertain the two business men.

They were plain sort of men, one of them especially. Rather heavy and silent. One could easily see that, even though they were very rich men—Neil had told me they were millionaires—that private home dinners were not an everyday affair with them.

I finally spoke of the business—oil. They could talk about that and talk in so interesting a fashion that I almost forgot to watch Neil and Blanche, or to pay any attention to their conversation.

But just before we arose from the table, while liquors were being served, I heard her say:

"If people had a little more sense they never would mistake my unconventional, which I shall never give up, for common, vulgar sinfulness. To be conventional myself, or be with people who are, bores me to extinction."

I realized perfectly that Blanche Orton would not allow herself to be bored, and that consequently Neil must interest her or she would not devote her time to him. But what I could not understand was his feeling that, though married, he could keep up the same friendship with her that had existed before his marriage.

mer Presbyterian pastor of this city, is taken:

The new manse of the First Presbyterian church on Eighth and Wall streets was formally opened to the members of the parish and friends Monday evening by the pastor, Dr. Ralph M. Crissman, and his sister, Miss Luella M. Crissman.

The manse is complete in every detail and reflects great credit on this prosperous congregation that has accomplished such large things the last few years. One of the attractive features of the new home is the historic pictures Dr. Crissman has brought back from Europe, Alaska, Bermuda and Hawaii.

The hours of receiving were from eight to ten and there was a continuous coming and going of friends during these hours. Many beautiful cut flowers and blooming plants, gifts of friends, added to the general charm.

Miss Crissman received in a gown of black messaline trimmed with old rose and wore a corsage of violets, orchids and narcissus. Masters Raymond Whiting and Edward Lindsay waited upon the door.

The dining room was most artistic with a large basket filled with red carnations and white narcissus beautifying the table, and where Messademes Elliott, Noble Petit, A. Van Siambrouck, M. E. Vroman, Sharp, McLeroy, C. W. Wellman and Alvin Greer took turns presiding. The young ladies who served the guests were the Misses Daisy McKenzie, Blanche Maitland, Elizabeth Rattenbury, Grace Gorman, Marguerite Lindsay, Florence Maitland, Catherine MacLachlin, Grace Potter, Blanche McKenzie, Marguerite Thom, Ada Potter, Drenna Neeley and Mrs. John Carrigan and Mrs. Lindsay. Others who assisted were Mesdames Gerrie Rattenbury, Potter, Forman and Neeley and Miss Dora Wadsworth.

During the evening Miss Marjorie Warren delighted the guests with a group of songs and piano numbers.

BENEFIT BRIDGE SUCCESSFUL.

New furnishings for the dressing room at the Country club were assured from the returns of the benefit-bridge given yesterday at the home of Mrs. Jack Forrest, with Mrs. Forrest and Mrs. George Downing as sponsors for the affair. Fourteen tables of bridge were formed with the following hostesses, one at each table: Mrs. Forrest, Mrs. George Downing, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Charles Leake, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. George Hawley, Mrs. W. C. Durkes, Mrs. George Boynton, Mrs. Fred Dimick, Miss Jean Hitchcock, Miss Grace Crawford, Miss Ingraham, and Miss Florence Noble. Between sixty-five and seventy guests responded to invitation issued and the afternoon was passed most pleasantly at the tables, a prize having been offered for each. A light luncheon was served after the tables were cleared. Cut flowers and a few suggestions of St. Valentine's Day were used here and there about the rooms used in the entertaining.

FOR MISS FISCHER.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fischer, of Marion township, was the scene of a pleasant surprise party on their daughter, Miss Florence, Monday evening, in honor of her birthday anniversary. Dancing and cards were the diversion of the evening until midnight, when a delicious scramble supper was served.

WAFFLE SUPPER.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harms, of Palmyra, delightfully entertained Thursday evening with a waffle supper in honor of Mrs. Orville McCleary, of Moline, who is here visiting her father, Mr. Webster and friends. Covers were laid for twelve. After the supper, "500" was played.

MANY ATTENDED F.S. BANQUET LAST NIGHT.

The second annual Fathers' and Sons' banquet which was held at the association last evening was attended by over fifty aires and their boys and was fine get-together event. The address of the evening was by George D. Rogers, of Clinton, Ia., and was most interesting, while a toast by Rev. E. C. Lumsden was also greatly enjoyed. Following the banquet and the addresses an indoor base ball game between teams of fathers and sons was played, and the "old boys" defeated their offspring 5 to 4. The teams lined up:

Fathers—Ward Hall, c; E. C. Lumsden, p; Tom Gullion, 1b; C. E. Keyes, ss; Kirby Reed, 2b; E. S. Roserans, ss; Rob Moore, 3b; A. W. Davis, f.

AT DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Starks were entertained at dinner last evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Frank Thompson, of Pine street.

HONORED ANNIVERSARY.

A very pleasant and complete surprise was perpetrated last evening on Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Starks, of 516 Galena avenue, by their neighbors and friends to the number of thirty-five.

The occasion was their thirty-seventh wedding anniversary, which is also the birthday of the hostess. The evening was spent in games and social chat. The house, in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Starks, had been tastefully decorated for the event. Before the departure of the guests, tempting refreshments were served by Miss Myrtle, daughter of the house, and her friends, Miss Helen Harvey. With wishes to the host and hostess for many happy returns of the day, the guests departed.

GUESTS FROM OHIO.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Self are entertaining their brother-in-law, Benj. Aney, of Hillsboro, Ohio. His wife and baby and Mrs. Self's mother, Mrs. Lance, are expected to arrive Monday to also be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Self.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCleary entertained last evening, their second wedding anniversary, with a Valentine dinner. Covers were laid for ten. Decorations were in keeping with the day, with roses as the table florer, and hearts and cupidus used as the additional table decorations.

ATTENDED PARTY.

Misses Bess Blackburn and Margaret Quinn attended the Valentine dancing party given by the young ladies of St. Mary's church of Sterling last evening.

DOUBLE SHOWER.

A double miscellaneous shower was given last evening for two brides of the near future, Miss Hazel Webster, who is to become the bride of Ralph Hoffman, formerly of near La-Moille, Ill., and now of Dakota, and Miss Dora Beckingham, whose engagement to Carl Hess, of this city, has been announced. The affair was given at the home of the former by the members of the Philathea Class of the Grace Evangelical church, of which Miss Webster and Miss Beckingham are members. Fifteen young ladies participated in the happy affair which was a surprise to both honorees, as each was told that it was to be a surprise on the other. The gifts, which included a number of beautiful pieces of linen, cut glass, and hand-painted China, were found by the brides-to-be after careful search. Tempting refreshments were served during the evening.

On Monday evening Miss Webster was also honored by the employees of the candy room at the Borden's Condensed Milk Co., the affair a scramble supper at Miss Webster's home. A handsome cut glass creamer and sugar set and some silver salt and pepper shakers were presented her.

Natural Feminine Thought.

Rescuer (to drowning woman)—"Now, madam, don't struggle and we are safe; the lake is as clear as a mirror, and—" Drowning Woman—"Oh, let me look in it! I think my back hair is coming down!"

Spiritual Princes.

There were Christians in Treves as early as the second century, and it had a bishop as early as 314. The archbishops of Treves became one of the leading spiritual princes of the early German empire. The Treves of today is a rich and active city of possibly 75,000 souls, a show city, a shrine city, and one in which the Yankee tourist should find much to interest them.

FRANCE THE BUFFER NATION.

Despite the treaty of peace that is to be made, and despite the formation of a league of nations, France, because of her nearness to Germany, will continue to be the world's buffer nation.

It is now admitted that the league of nations will not insure against future wars, because, as a Paris correspondent puts it, "there is not a delegation among the big five that could pledge its country in advance to go to war to uphold a mandate of the league."

As to America, strong objection is already being voiced here to the assuming of any world responsibility in order to preserve whatever good has grown out of the war. There is protest against becoming mandatory for Turkey and Armenia, and a disposition to take our hands off at the earliest practical moment and keep them off.

Is this wise? Is it safe? Can the United States afford to risk sacrifice of all the results of the war? Can she afford to lay herself open once more to the menace that Germany will continue to be to the whole world if the world does not unite—the great powers and the small—for world peace and for freedom of peoples? Do we not need a campaign of education along this line?

The same correspondent in Paris who wrote that "there is not a delegation among the big five that could pledge its country in advance," added: "The peace conference will order a general reduction of armaments, which means only that if another war occurs the armies will be much smaller at the beginning than they were at the outset of the present conflict."

Premier Clemenceau's remarkable interview, obtained by the Associated Press the other day, shows that that grand old man clearly sees the world situation as it is, and is not indulging in any dreams of assured peace in the future for France, or for the world. He sees the German menace continuing.

France was on the winning side militarily. But Germany has won industrially and commercially. In the clearer light of today, the systematic looting of French factories, the destruction of mines, forests, cities and villages, even when the Germans were in retreat, is now seen not to have been so much the pursuit of German frightfulness as the carrying out of a deliberate original purpose to destroy France commercially. Now Germany is undevastated and ready at once to put her industries in operation, while France is crippled for years to come. Industrially the victory is with Germany. Germany's war debts are owed almost wholly to her own people. They can be repudiated, or if paid, the interest will be kept at home for the further development of industry. France's debts are owing most largely in foreign countries. France's great pre-war investments are mostly foreign, and in great amounts. Payments on them to the French must be deferred because of the effects of the war in many of the countries in which the investments stand.

Germany's fleet has been taken away from her and her army largely demobilized, but there still remains, as Premier Clemenceau puts it, "a chaotic but fruitful Russia from which great help may be drawn by the Teutons." Even under the league of nations, as it is now proposed to organize it, France will continue to be the buffer nation. The German cry of "Kamerad," promptly sounded as soon as Germany was in danger of invasion, worked. It brought about the armistice. It saved Germany from commercial retribution. It saved her cities, her countryside and her civilian population. It brought a coward's victory to the Germans, and cowardice seems to be the only German characteristic which has demonstrated any degree of super-mannishness.

Germany, the premier sees, is thus in shape to start another war to complete the destruction of France as soon as peace is signed. Only the world acting as one nation can prevent or defeat it. The league of nations will be confessedly unable to help France. And if Germany should be able to get aid from "a chaotic but fruitful Russia," then there will be but one hope for France—the making good by America, by England, by Italy and by Japan of the pledge volunteered by President Wilson some days ago, that whenever France or any other nation is menaced, "the whole world will be ready to vindicate its liberty."

It is a pledge made without authority. But must America not fulfill it, must not England, Italy and Japan fulfill it, or the whole world forfeit the progress for which the world war has opened the door? Must it not be fulfilled lest the blood and the treasure lost by the war be forfeited for naught?

If, because our representatives in the peace conference feel themselves unauthorized to do so, they do not pledge us to send an army again to Europe when and if the necessity arises; if instead we complacently declare that we have done our duty and that the renewed trouble is none of our affair; and if one, two or more of the other powers take the same attitude, it is conceivable that Germany will yet find herself again in arms to achieve Der Tag, conquering France and Belgium first, and other nations as she gathers the strength to do it. There is no doubt that this continues to be the Teutonic desire and purpose.

President Wilson already sees the need of a great navy. It may be that when he returns to this country he will admit the need of a trained army, or at least of universal military training, which is not to be prohibited by the league of nations.

America, if she is to fulfill her part toward the progress of the world—if she is to make her own independence and freedom secure—can not again depend on her exclusiveness and remoteness. The world war has opened the gate toward world freedom. Any nation that fails to help keep it open will do less than its duty, and it will at the same time imperil itself.

FREAK ACCIDENT NEAR PITTSBURG

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Pittsburg, Feb. 15.—Twelve persons were injured, several seriously, when a 60-foot steel girder protruding from a flat car on a westbound freight train last night tore one side from three parlor cars of an east-bound Cincinnati and Pittsburg express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad near here. Both trains were moving slowly when the girder, which is believed to have been jolted from its position on the freight car, struck the express. It tore the roof from one steel parlor car and ripped off the sides of all three cars.

Most of the injured were cut by flying glass, several women fainting were trampled upon in the panic which followed the crash. Among the injured is Ralph O'Davidson of Sandoval, Ill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, republican, introduced a resolution in the house today directing Speaker Clark to appoint a special committee to enquire into the official conduct of John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, and announced that he will offer a bill abolishing the office of comptroller.

"I call attention to the fact," he said, "that rumors are afloat that the comptroller used information obtained in an official capacity to speculate on stocks."

U. S. NAVY OPERATES GREAT HELIUM PLANT

Only Institution of its Kind in World Being Built at Ft. Worth, Tex.

A R M Y BALLOONING

By Associated Press

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 14.—The only helium plant in the world is being erected in North Fort Worth by the United States Navy Department at a cost of $500,000. The plant's product is expected to remove the last danger element from ballooning. Experts declare that production of helium in quantities will soon make it possible for big passenger and freight airships to travel everywhere, and that the airship as a war weapon will surpass even the fleet airplane.

Helium, the material Count Zeppelin needed to make his big air-planes successful, removes the danger of fire from the gas filling in the balloon. American scientists, urged on by the English government, are responsible for the discovery and development of helium. The natural gas of certain wells at Petrolia, in Clay county, is the best ever found for the extraction of the helium. The products of the wells will be piped to Fort Worth, prepared for the balloons and distributed wherever the navy needs it. The government is now building the pipe line at a cost of $400,000.

Is Non-Inflammable.

Helium is said to have approximately 92 per cent of the lifting power of hydrogen and is non-inflammable. An airship inflated with helium can not be brought down in flames and can maintain speed of an airplane. Heretofore, the gas filled balloon was at the mercy of the quicker airplane which could set the balloon blazing with bullets.

When America entered the world war, the British government referred to the United States Bureau of Mines the problem of the industrial production of helium. Such a substitute for hydrogen was known to exist, but its cost was deemed prohibitive.

Is Now Ready.

Funds for experimental work were given to the Bureau of Mines by the Joint Army and Navy Board of Rigid Airships. The experiment plant was erected at a cost of $250,000. Work progressed quickly and quietly. About the time the armistice was signed, it was decided industrial helium had been produced economically and efficiently at the experimental plant.

Greatest secrecy was exercised by the government in conducting the experiment here. Soldiers were kept on guard duty day and night; a high fence was thrown up and no one was allowed to approach. Newspapers were cautioned by government officials against mentioning existence of the plant. This injunction was not removed until the armistice was signed.

The permanent plant will be in full operation by April 1, according to the announcement of naval officers.

OPPONENTS OF STATE BOARD ARE LINING UP

By Associated Press

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—Members of the state board of equalization are quietly trying to discover how much sentiment there is in favor of abolition of the board as recommended by Gov. Lowden in his biennial message.

While it is generally conceded that enemies of the present system of equalizing taxes probably will be able to repeal the law creating the board, it will not be without opposition.

One member of the board is elected from each of the twenty-five congressional districts. Because of close political relationships between the board members and legislators, it is said, some difficulty may be experienced in getting legislators lined up to pass a repealing act.

Gov. Lowden has on numerous occasions advocated abolition of the equalization board on the ground that the members are charged with the important duty of adjusting taxes and equalizing values among the various counties and that these men, elected in political campaigns, are not fitted for their responsibilities by experience or training.

The plan of the governor is to centralize the taxing agencies of the state under one hand, preferably the director of finance.

GERMAN LEAGUE TO SAVE KAISER

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Weimar, Germany, Feb. 15.—An urgent appeal to all Germans to unite in an effort to prevent the former Emperor William to be delivered up for trial was published today in a new government organ being issued here. It is headed:

"A League of German Men and Women for the Protection of the Person, Freedom and Life of William." Appended is a statement that Prince Henry of Prussia has been asked to assume sponsorship for the league but that he declined in favor of Field Marshall Von Hindenburg.

The appeal reads: "The life of a German citizen is endangered by the shameful demand of our opponents that Emperor William the Second be delivered to them for execution. This would constitute a new and deeply humiliating insult to the honor of Germany. To guard against such a deliverance there shall be created a gigantic league of German men and women to save the German people from this everlasting disgrace."

Where One-Fourth Costs More Than Three-Fourths

A part of the cost of rendering telephone service is the cost of collecting for the service. It is one of the items which must be considered in the making of telephone rates. The telephone company has thousands of accounts to collect each month. Individually, the amounts are small—averaging only a dollar or two each.

The heaviest part of collecting these bills is the cost of collecting those which are not paid promptly.

On the average, three-fourths of the telephone bills will be paid soon after the first of the month.

But it costs more to collect the remaining one-fourth than it costs to collect the entire three-fourths. The "slow" accounts demand extra attention, extra stationery and postage and extra time of the clerks. All this amounts to several hundred dollars a year in this city, which could be saved by the cooperation of all telephone users in the prompt payment of their bills.

"True conservation is elimination of waste."
This collection expense is waste.

By Associated Press Leased Wire.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The battle death rate in the American army in this war exceeded the death rates from disease, General March announced today in making public statistics prepared by the General Staff. In the expeditionary forces the rate was 57 per thousand per year. The disease rate was 17 per thousand per year in the expeditionary force and 16 per thousand per year in the army at home.
Among the American forces the battle death rate was only half that of the British expeditionary force, which was given as 110 per thousand per year.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

A belated "Dad's Christmas Letter," written by Burton Woodworth, with the army of occupation, to his father, G. Dudley Woodworth, Germany, Dec. 16, 1918.

Dear Dad:

For some two weeks now I have sworn I would write you a letter but never had a chance. We entered German soil on the 1st and have been traveling gipsy style. We would hit a town at 3 p. m. and leave at 7 a. m. next morning and we did that very thing fourteen days in a row, so you see I have been seeing some places. We are settled now for a few days, I believe. I and a chum have a room for the present and are living right comfortable when we find time to stay in it, which is not at all in the day time. We went through Coblenz and came across the Rhine on the 13th with the good old "Stars and Stripes" floating in the breeze. We are now at a place called Ransbach, rather a little place. We have a possibility of being paid tomorrow or next day, the first time in three months. We haven't needed money in that time, though. I will get $90.30 and I understand we will be paid in German marks, which will mean some 700.

You would be surprised to see the way most of this bunch of heathens try to treat us; you would think we had been their friends for life. But it would do no good to do otherwise, as we take and requisition what we want, regardless; we always have good places to stay and plenty of heat in them. The people have to furnish fuel and forage, etc., upon our demands, or, to speak correctly, the demand of the proper officials.

It has been a rainy, disagreeable day today and I am glad I am inside. I have been expecting some mail for some time and I hear we will get it soon. I do hope you got my Christmas sticker in time.

I have never told you the story of my stay in France because I could not, but I will try to do so in a way now:

As you may know, we boarded ship on the 29th of July, 1917, and lay in the harbor of New York until 2 a. m. on the 31st. We hit the trail then and had fourteen days of the finest sailing you could wish and on the evening of August 13, we docked in St. Nazaire, spent the night on the ship, and disembarked the morning of the 14th. We staid at St. Nazaire until the 19th, when we left for the artillery barracks at Valda-hou near the Swiss border and there we received our training on the French 75's, the guns not feared by the Boche. After two months of hard drill and plenty of good grub and a darned fine bunk, we were fitted for trial at Heine, so we left Valda-hou and went on the Luneville sector near Nancy. It was there that the first shot was fired by C Battery of our regiment on October 23rd. We stayed on the front for two weeks, digging positions and dug-outs, and firing every day under the supervision of the French officers. We went from there to Ribecourt and spent the winter in doing maneuvers or mock war. It was a darn hard winter, but I believe it put the first division in a position to stand all hardships and was a factor in making it the best division in the army. We left Ribecourt on Jan. 28th for the sector northwest of Toul and we held that for over two months, leaving on April 5th to go into the big drive. We were put in the Cantigny sector, the place where the Boche were the farthest into France. Our front lines were not many kilometers from Montdidier. It was there on May 28 that the first American victory was won, for the division captured Cantigny and the surrounding heights, depriving the enemy of valuable observation points and also giving them some real valuable points about the Americans. Although only a local attack, Cantigny will go down in history.

We left the sector on July 6th, and on the morning of July 18th were just south of Soissons. I guess you had read that tale we sure ripped to them. We started that drive and it never stopped. We were up and at them on all points; from that day on, we drove for five days and were relieved by the Scotch. We went over to a quiet sector near Toul again and stayed there about a month for a rest. During that time I got my furlough. I got back from that and the regiment was on its way to the big drive in the St. Mihiel sector. All there was to that was a big bombardment and a triumphant march in. We received very little resistance; the enemy fled. That drive started on Sept. 12th. Our next big event was the Argonne. We went in Oct. 1st, started the drive on the 4th, and never let up or were relieved until the armistice on Nov. 11th, when we were just outside of Sedan. We were darn glad to get out again and clean up and not have to wear helmets and gas masks all the time. We got a few days rest and then started on a slow march for Germany and here we are. "Across the line and across the Rhine."

This is a short tale here, but wait until I get home. It won't be so darn short, believe me; but another thing, don't hold your breath till I get there as "I am only a volunteer."

Well, this is the last sheet of paper, so must quit.

I didn't send a "Dad's Christmas Letter," as I didn't hear about it until a week after Nov. 22nd, but let this be it, Dad.

A right merry Christmas to you, Mamma, and Sis. With a lot of love, from the kid, Goat Got Even.

One really unusual incident occurred during a recent military ceremony in France, and that revolved about the goat mascot of one of the divisions in the parade. The goat had followed in with his men as befitting a proper mascot, but once in the square he was rudely relegated to the rear ranks. It chanced that a number of red-hatted staff officers took up their position in front of the goat and stood during the inspection at attention with huge bouquets out back from under their arms. When the inspection was over the officers stood at ease again and looked to their bouquets. They were holding only stems. The mascot had taken a sweet revenge and a square meal for the insult to his dignity.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20

15 HORSES AND MULES

Four mules, one extra choice team of very large mules. Eleven trotting and road bred horses including Gold Alice, 2:21¾ (bred to The Guide, 2:07½, the great son of Peter the Great), Pearl Williams, 2:23½ (bred to The Guide) Kentucky Princess (sired by Kentucky Todd, 2:08¼, the great futurity winner and sire of a number of great race horses, the dam of this filly is Priscilla, 2:24¼, she in turn a daughter of old Priscilla, the dam of nine standard performers from 2:09¼ to 2:29¼). This young filly is certainly bred right to make a great race mare; she has never been handled but we hope to hitch her a few times before sale day; Legeta (sire Legateer, 2:13¾, dam Debuture, 2:19¼, the dam of Debutent, 2:14¼; Legature, 2:14½; Eureka Maid, matinee record 2:16½; Brown Boy trial 2:19¼). Hookworm.

The full-grown hookworm is about one-third to one-half an inch in length. It is about the thickness of a small hairpin or a No. 30 thread. It looks to the unaided eye very much like a miniature earth worm.

Trap Gun and Rod

by Tom Marshall

Woman's working sphere! An unexplored and unlimited territory. Avenues have been open to femininity, which in past have always been labeled impassable and impossible. Many other roads are being opened which have the warning "temporarily closed and undergoing reconstruction."

The advent of the World's War, hastened by centuries the general reversal of dogmas, erroneous ideas and fallacies, regarding woman's legitimate sphere and her occupancy of the territory. Complete change of conditions with necessary requirements have granted woman the opportunity to enter and make good in many of the "thus far shalt thou go and no farther" avocations, which have been man's work and personal prerogatives from time immemorial. In the successful invasion and occupancy of those spheres by "gentler woman," new eras and ideas in life have been established. Woman's mentality or "think tank" was originally cast in the same mould with that of man. Conditions, teaching, surroundings, environments and accepted mandates had gradually brought about a contravention of reasoning, whereby the gentler became the weaker sex to mankind. Physically this was a conceded fact, American women had retrograded into a club of pink tea following, bridge playing aggregation of non-essentials, whose desire in life was the killing of time and forgetting of troubles by elimination of duties. Aladdin rubbed the lamp and conditions were changed in a night. When a direct National call was made to the women of our land for war assistance, the appeal was heard and immediately responded to by women from every walk of life. Many were the channels opened and trails blazed, who were continuously followed until woman was a prime factor in the winning of the war, not only in America but in other nations. Honors due for war success are to be equally divided between sexes.

Lucille Morrow is a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. P. Hall, of Racine, Wis. Harold Owens was a sufferer with influenza the past week. Mrs. George Hewitt and Mrs. L. Courtney spent Friday in Mendota. Mrs. B. F. Reinboth entertained a number of friends at cards Monday evening. Miss Mary Wood is now employed as cashier at the Fenton meat market. Miss Blanche Lear and Harry B. Herwig, of Franklin Grove, were married at the J. Daehler home in Dixon, Feb. 10. They will make their home in Franklin Grove.

You have menials, the "hewers of wood and carriers of water," cultured and "roughneck," the intelligent with the "haw-knocker." Members in both classes, who are competent to fill any position offered social or commercial. Women have demonstrated their all round ability and adaptability under recent stress of circumstances, so why return to the non-essential walks of life to again relegate themselves into continuous idea of time killing. You have come into your own. Universal franchises, the right of ballot, will soon be yours in every state. You are occupying seats in the Halls of Legislation, making laws for both Government and State. You are called upon to assist in the enforcement of laws, Matrons, Police-women and Jailers have fallen to your sphere of usefulness. Demands of humanity and business, should eliminate a continuous desire for bridge, pink teas or other indoor sports. Your ultimate success in life, mentally and from a physical angle depends upon your adoption of an out door life and continuously living in the open, which is an open sesame to an active mind, with longevity. As an outdoor diversion there is positively no line of mentality vs. physical ability is diversified amongst women as we also find it divided between men. In both sexes we find born leaders, orators, writers, entertainers, statesmen and women, with moulders of public opinion.

Mr. Henry resides in Elkhart, Ind. Is a man about 45 years of age and has been shooting at trap and on game since he was a boy. He has been raised in the great outdoors and has made a study of outdoor life and is a most successful trapper and trainer of dogs. He specializes on the catching of coon, rat and skunk for which he finds a most remunerative market at this time.

A short time since he essayed the role of private detective for the New York Central Railroad; his term of service was short, working but one night, turning in his resignation as a thief hunter and returning to the running of his traps in which he was much more successful. He is a very pleasant affable man, and is popular with his associates.

Question—Do you think game protection feasible? What duck would you favor as a breeder and hardy bird? Would I be permitted to sell propagated birds? Do you think the Federal law will again give us an abundance of game for sporting purpose? JOHN CORRIGAN.

Lynn, Mass.

Answer—Protection is certainly feasible. Propagation is conditional. Mallard ducks are considered the most desirable duck for propagation farms. Advised by the United States Department of Agriculture. Mallards are hardy, adaptable and fecundity fit as no other duck is fitted to be the game duck of the future. They are vegetarians, feeding on semi-aquatic plants about 90 per cent, ten per cent of the food being beetles, bugs and dragon flies. The Federal Migratory Game Law, if strictly enforced, will perpetuate, but never restore. Civilization encroachment is the answer to disappearing game birds.

HARMON.

The Social Circle was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Leonard Sego Thursday afternoon. Two comforts were tied and a short business session was held at the close of which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The neat sum of $5.00 was realized in the collection.

sport, you will attempt, that will give the mental rest, fill all physical requirements giving the personal satisfaction and pleasure to be derived from trapshooting—the sport alluring. From every angle it is seductive, your first venture at the traps eliminates every semblance of fear of fire arms, which usually possesses one, more intimate acquaintance with guns imbues you with confidence, self-reliance, with a knowledge and assurance of your ability to care for your home and personal safety. Your acquaintance with and ability to accurately handle a gun is an equalizer against brute strength on all occasions. An allayer of the qualms of fear, with which almost every woman is originally possessed.

Laws against 'carrying concealed weapons, were enacted to trim the claws of desperadoes or "gun-men" whose pleasure was "shooting up the town." Special dispensations or permits should be accorded women to carry arms, when necessary, as an equalizer. There would be no abuse of a privilege; the acquired morale would be useful to women as a preparedness measure against man-handling.
